A Bookkeeping, or Accounting, is the art of recording financial (or mercantile) transactions in a systematic manner so that accurate results may be readily obtained. The Mission Treasurer, from his books, must be able to answer the following questions at any time: (1) What part of any Appropriation for this field has already been expended, and what amount is still available? (2) What amounts do I, as Treasurer, owe, and what amounts, if any, are owed to me? (3) What funds have I, as Treasurer, received, from what sources and for what have these funds been used? (4) What amounts do I have on hand of the following: Cash - in cash-box and at Bank? Bills of Exchange? (5) What Certificates of Credit have I sold? (6) What New York Money Orders have I paid? Accounts - Debtor And Creditor All the Accounts needed for showing the results required are kept in a book called a Ledger. An Account in the Ledger is kept in such a way as to show on one side the value of what is received and on the opposite side, the value of what is given.
