Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Colorful Journalism in Fort Wayne, Indiana People living in the year 1966 can hardly imagine an America without magazines, or newspapers, or even one without daily newspapers. The first American newspaper was probably published in Boston in September of 1690, but until 1704 no newspaper, and until 1783 no daily newspaper, was regularly published in the territory which we now call the United States. The newspapers of the colonial period were largely by-products of printing establishments and the printer-journalist-editor was a product of the apprentice system. Following the Revolutionary War and until the 1830 s, the journalist was a political partisan, and only incidentally an editor. Newspapers came into existence in this country as new devices to satisfy old needs. In part they replaced services rendered by coffee houses and taverns, by preachers and postmasters, by town criers, and by town gossips. Their immediate forerunners included personal letters, the hand written newsletters produced commercially in this country and abroad, notices posted in public places, broadsides and pamphlets, and newspapers sent to America. The early printers...
